2025 Annual Report

A Message from Our Executive Director and Board President

Nancee Bakken

Executive Director,
Ronald McDonald House
Idaho

Elizabeth Criner

President of the Board,
Ronald McDonald House
Idaho

As we reflect on another remarkable year at Ronald McDonald House Idaho, we are filled with gratitude for the incredible community that makes our mission possible. Every day, families facing some of life's most difficult moments turn to us for comfort, support, and a place to call home while their child receives medical care. Because of your generosity and dedication, we were able to be there for more families than ever before.

This past year was one of continued growth and impact across our programs. As the needs of families increased, so did our ability to respond. Together, we provided welcoming spaces, warm meals, essential resources, and a caring community that helped thousands of families stay close to the medical care their children needed. While statistics tell an important part of our story, the true measure of our success is found in the families who were able to focus on what mattered most: their child's healing and well-being.

None of this happens without the unwavering support of our donors, sponsors, volunteers, board and committee members, and staff. Your contributions of time, talent, and resources create meaningful experiences for families every day. Whether preparing meals, supporting events, making financial gifts, serving in leadership roles, or advocating for our mission, you play a vital role in helping families find hope and stability during times of uncertainty.

As we continue to grow, we remain committed to being responsible stewards of the trust you place in us. We are focused on strengthening our programs, enhancing the family experience, and planning thoughtfully for the future so that we can meet the evolving needs of families across Idaho for years to come. The demand for our services continues to grow, and with your partnership, we are prepared to meet that challenge with compassion, innovation, and purpose.

This annual report reflects what can be achieved when a community comes together around a shared mission. We are proud of what we have accomplished together, but even more inspired by the opportunities ahead.

Thank you for believing in our mission and for standing alongside the families we serve. Your support creates a home away from home, offers comfort during difficult times, and provides hope when it is needed most. We are honored to be your partners in this important work and deeply grateful for all you do to help keep families close.

With gratitude,

The Andrews Family

La Grande, OR | 131 Nights at the House

We were pregnant with Elias, and as far as we were aware, our pregnancy was normal and healthy. In December, I got really, really sick. I thought it was just a major respiratory infection and went to a normal pregnancy checkup. When they took my blood pressure in the clinic, it was so high that my doctor said, “I don’t know how you’re standing right now.” I was admitted into the ER in La Grande, and after some blood work, we learned I was headed for organ failure due to HELLP syndrome. From that point, we were life-flighted to Boise.

Elias was born at 25 weeks and six days, weighing just 1 lb. 7 oz. But outside of that, he was strong. For how underdeveloped he was, he was even able to breathe on his own for a little while before needing interventions that most premature babies go through. We were told to get comfortable—because with a premature baby, the journey could be a few months or it could be many, many months. It was scary not knowing how long we’d be away from home. I was still in the hospital recovering when a social worker told us about the Ronald McDonald House.

When you’re in crisis—because having a premature baby is absolutely a crisis, having a place to land is a lifesaver. We had a mortgage to pay and animals at home, but because we weren’t paying outrageous hotel costs, we could keep up with our bills and hold onto our home.

We were just blown away by the House. We had a safe place to stay with an amazing room, clean bed, a warm shower, meals to eat, and all these wonderful amenities. It was such a comfort!

And when your child is fighting for their life, you’re pulled away from your community, away from your comfort zone. The Ronald McDonald House steps in and becomes part of your community. The staff, volunteers, and even other families quickly became our support. You bond so intimately and so quickly in the face of devastation! It was just such a beautiful thing to have shoulders to cry on, or people to celebrate the big milestones with, even though we were perfect strangers in the beginning. They just swept all our anxiety under the rug and made our journey with Elias so much smoother! We truly felt very supported the entire time. We ended up staying in two Ronald McDonald Houses due to Elias’ health issues. He has bronchopulmonary dysplasia (BPD) and complications from prematurity.

Thankfully, our visits to the Ronald McDonald House in Boise now aren’t emergencies. We return to Boise every couple of months for checkups and routine appointments. Each time, we stay at the House—and it’s such a blessing. The Ronald McDonald House Charities of Idaho House truly has become our home-away-from-home.

Thank You

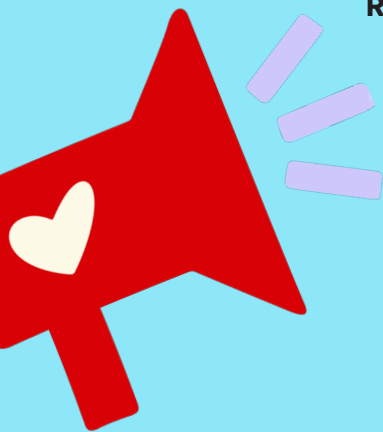

We are so grateful for all our donors, volunteers, and community partners. We couldn't do what we do without your support!

“We have had the absolute pleasure of coming to this Ronald McDonald House for the past two years now. I cannot even begin to express how much this place and all of you mean to us. You all truly think of every detail. I always feel so safe here. Most importantly, I feel so supported and loved! Having a child with special needs and medical needs is so scary and unpredictable. When I'm back home, it is so easy to get caught up in the negatives of our new life. When I have to travel 3+ hours to get my daughter to her specialists, and it feels like a vacation, ONLY because of this House and this staff. You are doing more than something right.. you are softening a very scary and hurtful situation. That to me is priceless! Thank you for the shampoo, toothpaste, amazing gift bags, the best bed I have ever slept on, the fun and safe environment, the smiling faces, the genuine care, the cleaning supplies, the ability to do our laundry, the amazing meals, the thoughtful snacks, and all the love. We appreciate EVERY detail!”
